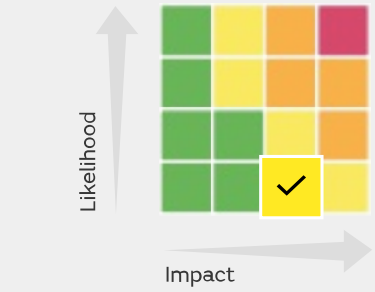
Thundery rain overnight and Monday morning

What to expect

- There is a small chance that homes and businesses could be flooded quickly, with damage to some buildings.
- Where flooding or lightning strikes occur, there is a chance of delays and some cancellations to train and bus services
- Spray and sudden flooding could lead to difficult driving conditions and some road closures
- There is a slight chance that power cuts could occur and other services to some homes and businesses could be lost

Further details

Thundery showers are likely to become slow-moving over parts of northern England and southern Scotland this evening, perhaps merging into longer periods of thundery rain during Sunday night and Monday morning. Heavy downpours could see a few spots receive 20 to 30 mm of rain in an hour, or 40 to 50 mm in several hours. Many places within the warning area will miss the heavier rain, however.



Very low likelihood of medium impacts
